High Level Goals

- Website where users can read, write , and rate reviews of public restrooms
  - Users can either login or create an account to get free and full access to the page
- Help the user decide which public restroom is best for them
  - Users can go to the site and view public restroom ratings and reviews free without creating an account.
  - Users can post reviews if they have a full account.
- The site should have an easy, intuitive, and well designed user interface
  - The user interface will be easy to navigate and can be easily modified to help the user have the best experience possible.
